U. S. War Bonds

Every citizen is invited to invest. It is more than an invitation—it is an appeal. It is more than an investment—it is a patriotic service.

This bank has been requested by the Secretary of the Treasury to cooperate with the Government in securing subscriptions to the Liberty Loan. We, therefore, take great pleasure in making this announcement:

THE KEOWEE BANK will receive subscriptions, will attend to all details of purchase and delivery of Bonds, and will furnish to intending subscribers full information relating thereto. There will be absolutely no charge for such services, either to subscribers or to the Government.

You may now enter with us your subscription for the amount you desire, in accordance with official terms.

Price: Par. Bonds $50, $100 and upwards.

Interest: 3 1/2 per cent, payable semi-annually—June 15 and Dec. 15. Maturity: 30 years, with privilege of redemption by the Government in 15 years or earlier.

Exemptions: Free of all taxes, except estate and inheritance taxes.

Subscriptions: Will be received until June 15, 1917.

We shall be glad to render any service possible in connection with subscriptions and invite the public to make full and free use of our facilities.

Fine Price For Cotton

H. F. BACHMAN & COMPANY, Cotton Merchants in New York, say the indications are cotton will sell for a fine price for the next two years at least, so you want to make all the cotton you can on the land you have in cotton while the price is good. These prices will not last always. Cotton is also a profitable crop at present prices and may become more profitable on account of the high price of all foodstuffs. Labor is too scarce and the spring was too late to make your acreage much, but you can increase your crop by increasing your fertilizer and by side-dressing liberally, and that is by far the cheapest way to increase your crop. Fertilizer has advanced less than any commodity a farmer uses, and fertilizer used in side-dressing cotton and corn pays better than any fertilizer used, because the growing crop gets it all. We are making a magnificent high-grade fertilizer, heavily charged with soda to give quick action, as the business of this requires haste. We sell this goods at $11.00 per ton at Anderson and $11.50 when it is shipped away from Anderson. One sack of this, costing you $4.10 or $4.15, applied to the acre of cotton, will increase the money yield of your crop more than $10 an acre, and good farmers say that side-dressing pays better on corn than it does on anything. But it should be applied early, not later than June 15, on cotton.

We don't advocate the use of this goods too late, as it keeps the cotton growing so long it will not mature and open in time. Applied at any time between May 25 and June 25 and it will pay better than any fertilizer you use. You only make one crop a year. Feed it and nurse it and make a good one—it pays. You feed your male more than once during the crop season; feed your crop as often as it needs it. It stands dry weather better, because it is better fed. You and the hands on your place and every head of stock—horses, mules, hogs and cows—will stand adverse conditions better if well fed. Your crop will, too.

But be sure to feed your crop the second time by June 15. Your cotton will make a better staple. You will get a better "turn out" at the gin, as it makes more lint to the seed and the seed will pay for the fertilizer. Experienced ginners will tell you that 1,200 pounds of seed cotton that has been side-dressed will turn out as heavy a bale as 1,000 pounds that has not been side-dressed.

There is more lint to the seed. But apply not later than June 15. Labor is too scarce and the season too late to increase your acreage, but you can increase your crop by increasing your fertilizer. It should be rich in nitrogen for quick action. And quick action is needed. Side-dress liberally and apply early. It will pay from $2.50 to $4.00 for every dollar it costs.

Miss Inez Morris is attending commencement at Chicora college, Columbia. She is a graduate of this institution.

The Pickens county boys who attended Piedmont college at Demorest, Ga., last session have returned home. Ralph Gilstrap of Pickens won a prize of $10 as the best declaimer in school, and Argus Loofer, also of this county, won second place in the same contest. We congratulate the young men.

The Keowee Bank has an interesting and patriotic advertisement in today's paper. Read it and buy a Liberty Bond. The United States government is behind these bonds and they are as good as gold money any day. There is absolutely no risk of loss in buying one of these bonds. Call at the bank and let Mr. Carey explain it to you.

B. C. Holcombe, a prominent citizen of Easley route 2, was at the county seat on business one day last week. He paid The Sentinel a visit while the editor was at dinner, but he waited for us to come back, as he said editors never had much to eat and he knew we would not be gone long. Mr. Holcombe says since the price of rations has advanced so much he eats more than ever and it seems like everything tastes better.

The singing convention at the Pickens Baptist church last Sunday afternoon was largely attended, the house being unable to hold the people, and the singing was fine. The ladies' quartet, which has gained quite a reputation in this section, was there and as usual made a hit. This quartet is composed of Mrs. Sophia Chadwick, Mrs. Bertha Profit, Miss Myrtie Hughes and Miss Nannie Sawyer. The leaders who took part in the singing were R. L. Henderson, J. W. Garrett, G. H. King, W. J. Baker, J. H. Hughes, Willie Winn, A. B. Stokes, L. E. Hughes, J. L. Bagwell, J. E. Garren, R. M. Bolding, S. N. Bolding, L. P. Simmons, S. L. Pace, W. R. Lewis and S. P. Freeman.
